ATR VERDICT: TRALEE HILLS has been pulled out of his last three intended races on ground concerns but should have no worries this time around returning to a surface he's won twice on. Simon Hodgson has clearly been picking his battles carefully for eight-year-old son of Mount Nelson and he looks to have every chance in making it three wins over C&D. Antonine Road ran a respectable race on his first start in over two years when fifth at Wolverhampton last month and he is entitled to strip fitter here, while Sundayinmay is also worthy of consideration.

ATR VERDICT: BEAU NASH hasn't been seen since winning on debut at Wolverhampton in October 2020, when he was nearly two lengths too good for Wirko. He's clearly had some issues over the past 18 months or so but is in the right hands to make a winning return to the track. Cosmic Desert has shaped well on both starts thus far and should be getting off the mark sooner rather than later. Real Dream was very green on debut at Nottingham and caught the eye when finishing well in fourth. He should have learnt plenty from that experience.

Top Tip: BEAU NASH (1)

ATR VERDICT: RECKON I'M HOT was just touched off when staying on for second at Wolverhampton last month. The Gary Moore-trained gelding was given a 1lb rise for that effort but it's hoped that this extra furlong may bring out more improvement. Smarden Flyer looks a creditable alternative having finished runner-up at Kempton earlier in the month, while An Angel's Dream has her first run in handicap company and would be interesting if there was any market confidence behind her.

ATR VERDICT: MALRESCIA confirmed the promise shown on debut when an impressive all-the-way winner over 5f at Hamilton recently and, with this longer trip unlikely to pose any problems, she could follow up under a penalty. The other experienced runners will need to improve a fair bit so it could be down to the newcomers to ask most questions. Archie Watson's Showdance makes most appeal of those, although Dhi Qar, The Xo and Nibras Rainbow are also interesting.

ATR VERDICT: A chance is taken on the fitness of SKY BLUE PINK, who improved throughout her juvenile campaign and signed off last season with an impressive novice stakes victory at Haydock. She is proven on the all-weather as well, and should go close off this opening handicap mark of 85. Beauzon won impressively over C&D on his latest outing in January and he rates the biggest threat, while Coolmeen Royal, Phinow and Open Mind add further spice to the race.

ATR VERDICT: SOLDIER ON PARADE hasn't shown much over hurdles on his last couple of starts but the switch to the level and a return to Lingfield, where he has won before, could reinvigorate him. The booking of Silvestre De Sousa is another positive and he may have too much for fellow C&D winner Tin Fandango, who makes his return from a 214-day break. Smith also likes it around here and can't be ruled out.

ATR VERDICT: HEY HO LET'S GO has been in tremendous form this year and having won on his last two starts over C&D, there is every chance that the six-year-old can make it four wins in his last five. Lucky Ava is bound to appreciate a return to the all-weather and must be considered, while Lethal Blast and Lilkian are capable of being in the shake-up as well.
